Facilitated by Ana Aragon, this Masterclass will provide participants with the knowledge and skills to provide evidence based, condition specific interventions for people with Parkinson’s and related movement disorders as well as increasing awareness of relevant policy, best practice guidelines and sources of association. The event is designed to enable OTs to enhance their existing skills and confidence in managing patients who present with any form of Parkinsonism in acute or community settings.

Numbers at Masterclasses will be strictly limited to 30 delegates who will be required to complete and return a pre-course questionnaire when submitting their booking to ensure that the day’s programme will meet the participants’ learning needs.

Ana qualified in 1989 as an occupational therapist. Following a variety of in-patient roles, Ana worked in a Consultant led, multi-disciplinary specialist service for people with Parkinson’s and related movement disorders from 1996 until 2007. In this role she provided assessment and rehabilitation services for around 700 people with Parkinson’s.

Since 1997 Ana has studied Parkinson’s at length and contributed to: 4 books, 2 national Parkinson’s disease guideline development projects, Occupational Therapy for Parkinson’s research projects, training events and conferences around the UK and in Sydney, Australia. With her co-author Jill Kings Ana’s has published and recently updated the Occupational Therapy for people with Parkinson’s; Best Practice guidance (2010, 2018). Ana now works independently and is a Consultant for Parkinson’s UK.

Royal College of Occupational Therapists Masterclasses
Masterclasses are facilitated by leading experts within a specific area of expertise and are designed to help practitioners to use the latest evidence and best practice to develop and meet their requirements. Each will use best practice examples, case studies and practical demonstrations to encourage the sharing of practice and interactions, creating better learning outcomes for clinicians and their practice. Masterclasses are practice based, outcome focussed and involve critical thinking and problem solving. Masterclasses are not set an a introductory level and assume that delegates have pre-existing knowledge and experience of the subject matter in hand. They provide an adult learning approach with lots of interactive discussion that enable delegates to bring issues and experiences from their practice to discuss with the group as well as providing the opportunity to learn new knowledge and skills. This masterclass has been mapped against the RCOT Career Development Framework and is suitable for level 6 and above.
