Masterclass
Assessing and Treating Fatigue: Skills and Strategies for Occupational Therapy Practice
Royal College of Occupational Therapists, London
Monday 11th September 2017

Facilitated by Dr Sue Pemberton, this Masterclass is aimed at occupational therapists from any clinical setting who find that fatigue is a significant problem for their clients and who want to increase their knowledge, enhance their skills and develop this area of practice. Delegates will gain an increased understanding of fatigue and how to assess its impact upon daily life, learn fatigue management strategies and develop increased confidence in the management of fatigue.

Numbers at Masterclasses will be strictly limited to 30 delegates who will be required to complete and return a pre-course questionnaire when submitting their booking to ensure that the day’s programme will be meet the participants’ learning needs.

The trainer
Specialist Occupational therapist and Therapy Director at the Yorkshire Fatigue Clinic Dr Sue Pemberton has over 20 years of clinical experience in fatigue management and has co-authored the book ‘Fighting Fatigue: a practical guide of managing the symptoms of CFS/ME’

Royal College of Occupational Therapists Masterclasses
Masterclasses are facilitated by leading experts within a specific area of expertise and are designed to help practitioners to use the latest evidence and best practice to develop and meet their requirements. Each will use best practice examples, case studies and practical demonstrations to encourage the sharing of practice and interactions, creating better learning outcomes for clinicians and their practice. Masterclasses are practice based, outcome focussed and involve critical thinking and problem solving. Masterclasses are not set at an introductory level and assume that delegates have pre-existing knowledge and experience of the subject matter in hand. They provide an adult learning approach with lots of interactive discussion that enable delegates to bring issues and experiences from their practice to discuss with the group as well as providing the opportunity to learn new knowledge and skills.
